Learning Disability

Today

Learning Disability Today is working in association with Sheffield City Council to produce this annual regional exhibition and conference.

The day of seminars and an exhibition share the region's good practice, to help you to deliver services that improve the lives of people with learning disabilities.

Learning Disability Today provides a great opportunity to show case good practice in giving people choice and control over their lives. It also provides a forum to challenge, for example, poor quality healthcare for people with a learning disability and to promote the powerful messages from Death by Indifference.

David Congdon, Public Affairs Consultant
(former Head of Campaigns & Policy, Mencap)

- £25 to attend
- Free places available for people with learning disabilities, unwaged, unpaid support workers and family carers, full-time students

The exhibition

Showcasing innovative projects and organisations that extend choice and control for people with learning disabilities, across all areas of their lives.

- care and support providers (including supported housing)
- publishers and information services
- groups led by people with learning disabilities
- advocacy organisations
- recruitment agencies
- IT companies
- voluntary organisations
- assistive technology and equipment to support living independently
- training and education providers
- research and policy organisations
- public sector bodies.

The seminars

The CPD seminar programme has been designed to:

- Develop services that respond to local needs

Providing a focus on current national objectives and how they can be translated and implemented - to provide high quality services that meet the needs of people with learning disabilities living in your region.

- Be inclusive

When we plan our programme for Learning Disability Today we include everyone. Each seminar session provides a full range of opinions from experts and professionals, people with learning disabilities and their families.

Seminars include:

- Post-Winterbourne progress check
- Implications of the Care Bill
- Responding positively to funding restrictions
- ASD services: access and integration
- Hate crime
- Housing: What is available, how to access it and how to keep it local
- Health: Accessing primary care services, and mental health services
- Safeguarding: Working together to reduce risk
- Advocacy: Working with groups and self-advocacy
- Transition: Accessing education and employment, housing, and your social life
- Initiatives to promote well-being
- Building resilient and inclusive communities

Programme subject to change, please keep checking the website for regular updates.

About Learning Disability Today

Established in 2001, Learning Disability Today is a national event that's on in London each year. We are delighted to be returning to Sheffield. Here's some feedback from visitors to the last event.

- Very informative – a very positive and worthwhile event to learn more about what is available for people with learning disabilities.
- Awesome, the speakers were speaking with a passion
- The cost and accessibility is the best of all the annual learning disability events – we wouldn't miss it!
